

WESTCOAST LULLABY (© Roger Holdstock 2004)

CHORUS

Go to sleep, now don't you cry
Here's your westcoast lullaby
Fish won't swim, birds won't fly
Until the morning when you rise

Birds have flown home to their nest
You know we all could use some rest
Close your eyes, day is done
Sleep now til the morning comes

(CHORUS)

Halyards humming in the breeze
Sailboats resting from the seas ~
City sailors home once more
To sleep in bed safe on the shore

(CHORUS)

Moon is rising on the bay
Ski run lights shine far away
Between the clouds a star breaks through
All are watching over you

(CHORUS)
